

Adjectives

1. Copy the passage into your books adding an adjective before each noun highlighted in bold to make the story come to life!

- Remember an adjective is a word that describes a noun

Mr Wonka was standing all alone just inside the gates of the factory.

And what a man he was!

He had a hat on his head.

He wore a coat made of velvet.

His trousers were _____.

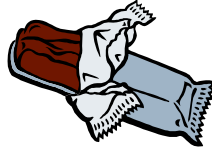

His gloves were _____.

And in one hand he carried a cane.

Covering his chin, there was a beard - a goatee. And his eyes - his eyes were bright. They seemed to be sparkling and twinkling at you all the time.

The face, in fact, was alight with fun and laughter. He kept making movements with his head, cocking it this way and that, and taking everything in with those eyes. He was like a squirrel in the quickness of his movements, like a squirrel from the park.

Suddenly, he did a dance in the snow, and he spread his arms _____, and he smiled at the five children who were clustered near the gates, and he called out 'Welcome, my friends! Welcome to the factory!'

Adjectives

1. Copy the passage into your books adding an adjective before each noun highlighted in bold to make the story come to life!

- Remember an adjective is a word that describes a noun

Mr Wonka was standing all alone just inside the gates of the factory.

And what a man he was!

He had a hat on his head.

He wore a coat made of velvet.

His trousers were _____.

His gloves were _____.

And in one hand he carried a cane.

Covering his chin, there was a beard - a goatee. And his eyes - his eyes were bright. They seemed to be sparkling and twinkling at you all the time.

The face, in fact, was alight with fun and laughter. He kept making movements with his head, cocking it this way and that, and taking everything in with those eyes. He was like a squirrel in the quickness of his movements, like a squirrel from the park.

Suddenly, he did a dance in the snow, and he spread his arms _____, and he smiled at the five children who were clustered near the gates, and he called out 'Welcome, my friends! Welcome to the factory!'

